

Islamic Studies Syllabus

Rationale

The following syllabus has been devised to provide continuity of learning whilst at the same time allowing for flexibility.

The intent of the syllabus is to primarily seek the pleasure of Allah, to encourage a love for Allah, to promote a respect for oneself and for others, through the pursuit of virtue.

A child's learning is gradually built upon a foundation, whereby given areas will be returned to in future years at a more advanced level. For example, a child's understanding of Ramadan will differ from that of a 6 year old to that of a 17 year old. The level of complexity within planning will take this into account. Furthermore, areas such as Salah will be repeated often. It is an important element of our curriculum for all Muslim children to learn to pray.

The curriculum follows three broad themes: Practicing Islam, Understanding Prophethood (+ Hadith/ stories from the Quran) and Application of Islam to life.

Continuity is important. It is envisaged that the Qur'an recitation, the memorisation of Surahs and Du'as will take place elsewhere. The relationship between Islamic Studies and the other areas is important. It is important to have a vision of the whole child and where we as a community would wish them to be when they finish their time with us in the school.

May Allah strengthen us and reward us all as we continue to strive to gain his pleasure in building a strong virtuous Ummah. May Allah accept our efforts and enable our programmes of study to achieve such aims. Insha Allah.
